“The current Covid-19 vaccinations are no more effective at preventing Covid than Robitussin is at preventing a person from catching the common cold,” were the words spoken to Real Raw News by a former CDC research scientist who in October was fired for questioning agency protocol.

that Pfizer, Moderna, and Johnson & Johnson had sent the CDC for analysis and record keeping.

It was clear from the start, he said, that the CDC's intent was to bury or misrepresent adverse reaction reports while pressuring Trump's Covid-19 Task Force into believing that clinical trial results, which Big Pharma falsified, showed >95% efficacy at preventing a person from contracting the China virus. Big Pharma collectively injected the clot shot into the arms of 50,000 clinical trial participants; another 47,000 received placebos. Two percent—an alarming number—of the 50,000 developed severe adverse reactions to include myocarditis and pericarditis within 21 days of having received either their first or second jab.

Moreover, 85% of trial participants who got the medication and were intentionally exposed to Sars-Cov2 tested positive for Covid-19 within 4-14 days of having been exposed to the virus. In short, the vaccinations seemed to protect only 15% of recipients.

“The level of deception is shocking. But fact is, we can't even trust the 15% figure, because with every disease, a segment of the population will have an inherent or natural immunity. We've seen this with Smallpox, Polio, and even Ebola. Some people have a biological resistance. It's entirely possible that 5%, 10%, or even the 15% are immune to Sars-Cov2. It's important to note that Big Pharma, the CDC, and the NIH pretty much operate as a single entity. They're all in this together. So, when the CDC got the trial statistics, they had to muddy them. What sane person would risk taking a vaccine that causes sickness and maybe a 15% chance of protecting against an illness with less than a 1% mortality rate,” Larry said.

symptoms of influenza or bronchitis, but it was brief and not life-threatening,” Larry added.

Prior to the genesis of Trump’s ill-conceived Operation Warp Speed, members of the CDC, NIH, FDA, and Big Pharma routinely held clandestine meetings to discuss ways of deceiving a potentially wary public to accept a fictitious narrative—get vaccinated or die—devised before vaccine trials had been completed.

He recalled seeing an internal CDC memo dated May 5, 2020. It claimed Phase-3 clinical trials of Moderna’s mRNA-1273 Covid-19 vaccine had irrefutably proven that the product was ~93.7% effective. Our source noted, however, that Moderna hadn’t begun Phase-3 trials until July 27, 2020, and which it completed in October of that year. Therefore, the CDC and/or Big Pharma had arbitrarily fabricated the drug’s effectiveness long before clinical trials were finished.

“I believe the memo was widely circulated by mistake, cause it vanished from CDC servers the next day. It’s my opinion that there’s been a collaborative effort to pump that poison into as many people as possible regardless of how effective it is. Right now, the majority of people hospitalized have had one, two, or three shots. There are more vaccinated than unvaccinated in the hospitals. That is telling. The vaccines were never meant to stop Covid-19,” Larry said.
